QUALIFICATION TO BECOME A DRIVING INSTRUCTOR

To work legally as a qualified driving instructor in the UK you are required to pass 3 Driver Vehicle Standards Agency (DVSA) qualifying examinations...

Theory and Hazard Perception • Driving ability • Test of your ability to teach

PART 1 – THEORY & HAZARD PERCEPTION

Part 1 is a 90-minute multiple choice computer based theory test and hazard perception test.

We will supply all relevant course material for the Part 1 along with online and telephone support.

The theory part of the test comprises of 100 multiple choice questions. You are required to achieve at least 85 correct answers, you also need a minimum mark of 20 in each of the 4 areas covering:

- Road procedure
- Traffic signs and signals
- Car control
- Pedestrians
- Mechanical knowledge
- Driving test
- Disabilities
- Law

- Instructional techniques

On the Hazard Perception part of the test you will be shown 14 video clips, each containing at least one developing hazard. You are required to identify the hazards scoring a minimum of 57 out of a maximum of 75 marks to pass.

Only once you have successfully passed part one are you able to apply for the Part 2 test.

PART 2 – DRIVING ABILITY

The driving test is very similar to the current learner test, but you are required to demonstrate a slightly higher level of safe and controlled driving.

At the start of the test you will be asked to read a number plate at the required distance.

During the test you will be asked 5 vehicle safety questions. These will consist of 3 'Show Me' and 2 'Tell Me' questions. You will be required to 'Show and 'Tell' the examiner according to the questions asked.

Throughout the Part 2 training you will be given 10 hours of one to one quality in-car training along with all the relevant work and study files to help you pass this test. Your dedicated trainer will guide you through the process of Part 2 and will always be on hand to advise and support you with any questions or queries you may have in between each training session.

PART 3 – TEST OF YOUR ABILITY TO TEACH

Once you have successfully passed Parts 1 and 2 you will be able to apply for Part 3 of the test. Part 3 is designed to assess your instruction and your ability to pass your knowledge onto your learner in the correct manner.

Part 3 has recently been restructured by the DVSA and our trainers have all had the relevant training to keep up to date with the latest developments.

On the test you will take a learner or full licence holder and demonstrate your planned lesson to the examiner who will be assessing your teaching methods. You will be marked on 17 areas of competence that are grouped into 3 categories:

- Lesson planning
- Risk assessment
- Teaching and learning strategies

You will be scored from 0 to 3 for each of the 17 competencies, these are totalled to give your final mark. The minimum mark you must achieve to pass is 30 out of 51 with a score of 8 or more on the risk assessment section.

You will receive 42 hours of quality training from your dedicated trainer along with all the relevant work files and training aids. Our ORDIT accredited trainers regularly enhance their knowledge of the latest changes by attending ORDIT training workshops run by the DVSA.
